Learning Objectives

The objectives of the webinar are to

- provide basic information on the pathophysiology of the inflammatory process
- understand the difference between inflammation and infection
- understand the molecules, cells and events involved in sterile and septic inflammation as possible targets for radiopharmaceuticals
- understand the different tools and strategies used for imaging inflammation/infection, based on these concepts